Supplemental figure 2. The correlation between RD progression and the average number of accelerations above various thresholds. The strongest Spearman’s correlation coefficient found was -0.51 at a threshold-level of 2000 °/s² for rotational acceleration (top figure) and -0.51 at a threshold-level of 1.25 m/s² for linear acceleration (lower figure).